Global Ag Media

Premium news and knowledge for the global agriculture industry

Welcome

Sarah Mikesell

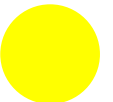

We believe the best relationships are built on trust, understanding, and a shared vision

That's why we take the time to listen to your objectives and learn what really matters to your business.

Every client's needs are unique – whether it's a new product awareness campaign or a long-term content strategy. Our goal is simple: to help you connect with your audience in a way that feels authentic and delivers meaningful results.

For us, content is where the magic happens. Writing isn't just part of the job – it's a genuine passion, and we're always excited to create stories that resonate with the right audience. No writing project is too big or too small, because every piece of content has the potential to make an impact.

We'd love the opportunity to learn more about you and how we can help bring your company's vision to life.

Our Audience

We engage with an audience of farm managers, veterinarians, nutritionists, processors, manufacturers, ag businesses, researchers and academia on a global scale.
